I'm Yara. I'm interested in keeping our environment clean. Last summer, my family and I went on a trip to a national park. It was a beautiful place with many birds and animals. However, we noticed a problem. There was a lot of plastic rubbish, like bottles and bags, left by visitors. Pollution is dangerous for the animals and harms the environment. My father said, "We must do something.

As global citizens, it is our responsibility to protect nature." So, we decided to spend part of our day cleaning up. We put on gloves and started collecting the rubbish. Other families saw what we were doing and joined us. In just two hours, we collected ten big bags of plastic. The area

The camel is one of the most amazing animals in the vast desert. It has adapted perfectly to survive in the hottest weather. Its long legs help it walk across the endless sand dunes easily. Camels can stay hydrated for many days, which is very important in the desert. Its hump stores fat to give it energy when there is no food. Group B: "Nature Around Us"

Nature is all around us, and it is full of wonders. Near my home, I can see green trees, colorful flowers, and beautiful birds. Nature changes with the seasons; in spring, flowers bloom, and in summer, the sun is bright. We have many natural landmarks like towering mountains and vast oceans. It is important to protect nature because it gives us food, water, and clean air. We should plant more trees and keep our environment clean for future generations.

Group C: "The Weather in My Country"

The weather in Egypt is very diverse and interesting. In Cairo, it is usually sunny and warm. During the summer, it becomes very hot, so people need to stay hydrated and avoid the midday sun. In winter, the weather is cooler, and sometimes it rains, especially in cities like Alexandria. We listen to the weather forecast every day to know how to dress. Compared to other countries, Egypt has a wonderful climate that makes it a great place for tourists to visit all year round.
