Read the following passage and choose the correct answer:

Statistics show that the rapid growth in population creates problems for developing countries. So, why don't people have fewer children? It has also been found that only when people's education and living standards begin to rise, birth rates begin to fall.

Now poor countries can't afford social services and old age pensions, and people's incomes are so low that they have nothing to spare for savings. So people need their children to provide them with security in their old age. Having a large family can be a form of insurance. Even when they are still young children can help on a small farm.

Improvements in public health services and medical care have assured that many more babies survive infancy and grow up. It has also helped the parents to live longer. No wonder populations are being added to both ends. These people have to be convinced that with smaller families, there will be more food, better schools, more employment and thus a better standard of living. This means changes in attitudes.

2- Read the following passage, then answer the questions:

Adolescence is the time of life when a child is changing into an adult. The most obvious changes occur between the ages of 11 and 14 when young people mature both physically and mentally. Girls begin their growth suddenly between the ages of 10 and 12, about two years earlier than boys. Whereas girls reach their adult height by the age of 14, boys take until the age of 16 to get there. However, not everyone grows at the same speed. The rate of maturity differs according to a person's inherited tendencies, nutrition and environment.

Adolescence is often an annoying and challenging time in life. Teenagers are expected to learn to be independent, develop their own identity, understand what society expects of them and finish most of their education. This can cause stress, anxiety, depression and confusion.

In adolescence, young people prefer the company and interests among many young people of their friends rather than adults. If they did not learn what is right and wrong as children, adolescents might make bad decisions about their behavior.

Plants have been used for treating illnesses since primitive times. Paintings in the tombs of the pharaohs show that plants were being used by the ancient Egyptians for medicinal purposes. Today, some drugs are still based on natural herbs. Aspirin, for example, is based on the bark of willow trees.

darsenglizy.com

Natural remedies are attracting increasing attention all over the world. The advantage of herbal medicine is that the whole of the plant can be used. The powerful substance in the plant cures the illness while the contents of the rest of the plant may help to prevent any harmful side effects. In this way, herbal medicines may be safer than chemical ones.

Garlic is just one herb which has been used throughout the world as a cure for diseases as it is used to treat hair problems. Similarly, henna, which is known to be good for the hair, can be used in the treatment of cancer.

If you pay a visit to a herbalist shop, you will be struck by different colours and smells. There are jars full of tree barks, roots, powders, oils and spices. The customer enters the shop and explains his symptoms to the herbalist, who will take notes, study medical reports and check his reference books before writing out a prescription. However, about eighty percent of those who consult a herbalist have already been to a doctor. As a result of the worldwide interest in herbal medicines, Egypt has set aside 50,000 acres of land in Beni Suef and Minya for the cultivation of herbs with medical properties. If this experiment is successful, lots of countries may import herbs from Egypt in the near future.

Monday 5th June

I've always wished that I knew more about the moon, so I did a project into it at school. The moon orbits the earth every 27.3 days, so that is about once a month. However, we only see one side of it. That is because it takes about the same time for the moon to spin once as it takes for the moon to orbit the earth. The side which we don't see is called"the dark side of the moon". However, like the earth, both sides of the moon are illuminated by the sun at different times, so it is not dark all the time. we just can't see it.

Like the sun, the moon rises in the east and sets in the west. A full moon is when we see the moon as a circle. This occurs when the moon is on the opposite side of the earth to the sun. Scientists think that there is probably some water on the moon, but there are no clouds and there's no wind. The average temperature on the moon is 107 degrees centigrade in the day and – 153 degrees centigrade at night. If the astronauts who visited the moon hadn't worn space suits, they'd have died.

The moon is usually about 385,000 kilometers from earth, but its gravity makes our seas rise and fall twice a day.The surface of the moon is about the same size as Africa. Gravity on the moon is only 17% as strong as it is on earth. That means you can jump really high there!

Many people have jobs that are not very interesting, but a lot of people have to work at night, and this is very difficult. When everybody else is getting ready to go out, they have to go to work, and this puts a lot of psychological stress on them. It is also not very healthy because the human body is designed to be active in the day and to rest in the dark. If this cycle is changed, it can have a bad effect on a person's health. So, why do people do night shift?
Nowadays a lot of jobs have to offer a 24-hour service, like hotels, delivery companies, some supermarkets open all night and all day, call centers and hospitals. It is true that some people only need a few hours of sleeping at night but the majority need eight hours. Humans are most active in the middle of the day, and the time when they are least able to concentrate and be efficient is between 2 am and 4 am.
This is the worst time to drive, or to do anything that needs concentration. The body finds if very difficult to adapt to the opposite cycle. Things are not likely to get better in the future because more and more business are working 24 hour cycles to keep in step with our 24-hour society.

2-Read the following passage, then answer the questions:

How can you best improve your English depends particularly on whether or not you live in an English speaking community. If you hear English spoken every day and mix freely with English speaking people, that is an advantage. On the other hand, it is often confusing to have the whole language poured over you at once. Ideally, a step- by-step course should accompany or lead up to this experience. It will also help a great deal if you can easily get the sort of English books in which you are interested.

To read a lot is essential. Read as many books in English as you can, not as study but for pleasure. Do not choose the most difficult books you find with the idea of listing and learning as many new words as possible. Choose what is likely to interest you and be sure in advance that it is not too hard. You should not have to be constantly looking up new words in the dictionary, for that deadens interest and checks real learning. Look up a word here and there but as a general policy try to guess what words mean from the context. You should enjoy the feeling which reading gives of having some command of the language. As you read, you will become more and more familiar with words and sentence patterns you already know; understanding them better and better as you meet them in more and more contexts, some of which may differ only slightly from others.

In a small village, there lived a little girl whose name was Sophia. Her uncle gave her a few coins to share with her twin brother, John, on their fifth birthday. She looked at the pieces and said, "What shall we do with them, mother?" "You mustn't spend them foolishly," said the mother. The twins ran into the street. They wondered what they should buy. Should they buy candy? They hardly knew how it tasted. Should they buy a toy? If they had been the only children in the family, things might have been different. But there were three brothers older than them and two little younger sisters.

They hadn't gone far when they met a larger boy who was blowing a flute. "I wish I had that flute," John said. The big boy looked at them and blew it again. "Oh, what a beautiful sound it makes!", Sophia said. Then she showed the coins to the big boy and said, "You may have them if you give us the flute". "All of them?" the boy asked. Sophia looked at her brother and then she nodded. "Well, it's a deal," said the boy. He gave the flute to John and took the coins. Little John was very happy. They ran home quickly.

"You've paid much for this toy. You could have bought many flutes with the money," said their mother. The twins realized their mistake. The flute didn't please John anymore. 2- Read the following passage then answer the questions.

There are several arguments in favour of working as a teacher. It is a very interesting job because teachers have contact with many young and creative pupils. They can learn very interesting things from each other-both a teacher and students. What is more, pupils do not allow teachers to lose their creativity. And you have to deal with them successfully. Furthermore, it is a rewarding job, since when teachers see how their students become wiser and well-educated people, they can be happy and proud. You feel useful for others and what is most important, you help children not only learn more but also solve their problems. However, there is also a number of disadvantages of being a teacher. 2- Read the following passage, then answer the questions:

The human brain remembers negative experiences more easily than positive ones. Our brains have developed this way because threats, like dangerous animals, had a more immediate effect on our ancestors' survival compared to positive things like food or shelter. As a result, you likely know what makes you unhappy' but do you know what makes you happy?
Research suggests that our levels of happiness depend partly on factors we cannot control- our genes and our life circumstances. People who form close relationships tend to be happier than those who don't. The number of friends we have isn't important. What matters is the quality of our relationships. Relationships that bring happiness usually involve the sharing of feelings, mutual respect, acceptance, trust, fun and empathy. People who make a habit of caring for the well-being of others tend to be happier. This might involve volunteering for an organisation or reaching out to support friend and family on a regular basis. When we are so interested in an activity we enjoy so much that we lose track of time, we are in a state of flow. The activity could be making art, playing the piano, surfing, or playing a game. People who experience flow in their work or hobbies tend to be happier
People are more likely to be happy if they know what their strengths are and use them regularly. People who set goals and use their strengths to achieve them tend to be happier. People who think positively by being grateful, mindful, and optimistic are more likely to be happy. Being grateful means being thankful. Being mindful means being open to, focusing on, and enjoying the experiences of the present moment. Being optimistic means being hopeful about the future.

As half of all Egyptians are under 20 years of age , the population will continue to grow .

Recently , an Egyptian newspaper , wrote a report on what life would be like in the year 2030 if the population continues to grow as fast as it is doing now . In Cairo , people would have to live in tents and travelling from one side of the city to another would take hours. With classes of 100 pupils , schools would have to be open all day to teach everybody . To prevent such problems , the government wants people to have smaller families . On television , it

2. Read the following passage , then answer the questions : (12 Marks)

The Pharos at Alexandria was probably the first lighthouse in history .The Greek word (Pharos) means an ancient lighthouse or beacon to guide sailors and ships. It was built in the third century BC and took its name of Pharos from the island on which it stood . It stood there for over 1500 years and in working order for nearly a thousand years. With a height of over 100 metres (330 ft) , it was so impressive that it made it onto the established list of the Seven Wonders of the Ancient World . The island of Pharos was at the western edge of the mouth of the River Nile in Egypt , where Alexander the Great founded his city of Alexandria in 331 BC. Alexandria was planned from the beginning to be not only the proud capital of Egypt , but also an important port . It became both of these things .With its wide , straight streets , its royal palaces , its famous library , its museum of arts and sciences where scientists could live and study free of charge , it was perhaps the finest city of the Mediterranean Region . Alexandria had a serious disadvantage as a centre of trade : sailors in the Mediterranean had difficulty in finding and entering the port .This was because the land at the mouth of the Nile was very flat , and so a sailor did not know where he was until he was near the coast . Fires were used in the ancient world to guide ships to land . And so the idea for a giant tower with a fire on top–in other words a lighthouse – was born.The result was the famous building:the Pharos at Alexandria.

2. Read the following passage , then answer the questions : (12 Marks)

People may be divided into two types : winners and losers . Because our families and friends have a great influence on us as we grow , we are born helpless and dependent on our environment . Winners are able to change their situation and become independent by being responsible for their own lives .They don't blame others for their mistakes . They do their own thinking , they listen to others , evaluate what they say , and then they make up their minds. Although they may fail at times , yet they keep their self-confidence . Winners overcome their bad experiences .They have enthusiasm for life , enjoying work , play , food and the world of nature .They freely enjoy themselves , but they can postpone it if duty calls . Losers , on the other hand , never learn to take responsibility for their own lives .There are many causes why people can become losers : disease , poor nutrition, cruelty , unhappy relationships and bad experiences .These can interfere with the normal progress towards becoming a winner . But whereas winners fight these situations , losers hang on to them , and use them as excuses . Losers usually feel anxious , unhappy and bored .They are afraid to try new things and often repeat their own mistakes again and again .When a student fails a mathematics test and then says ," Oh, well , I've never been good at maths" , it becomes his excuse for not trying to change this idea , and remains a loser . Losers spend their lives waiting for something wonderful to happen to save them from their problems with their lives , but they never try to change

The natural world around us is really terrific. It is full of obvious and ambiguous objects. One of the most amazing things that we cannot do without is the tree. Why are trees important? A simple answer to this question is that trees give us wood which we use for making furniture and many other things. However, this answer is traditional and very limited. In the past, trees had several benefits. They supplied people with wood for building and heating. They also provided people with cool shade by the sides of the roads and in fields. In the modern world, trees are even more important. They are the main ingredient in thousands of products. Paper is one of the most significant wood products. Rubber is also made from some kind of trees. In addition, some kinds of ice cream and toothpaste are made from wood. Turpentine is one of the main chemicals which are made from wood. Scientifically, trees help the earth to breathe. They take in carbon dioxide and release oxygen. This helps to purify the contaminated air which affects our health badly. 2) Read the following passage, then answer the questions:

In Egypt, the tourism industry has come to hold a position of great importance lately. It is felt that it could help increase the national income. In some European countries, tourism has brought in millions of dollars yearly, although they lack the natural and historical attractions we have in Egypt. We could, for instance, establish tourist villages for children on the Red Sea. We could teach fishing, swimming, diving and sailing there. Another good idea would be a village in the New Valley for horse riding. And what about villages for people with health problems like rheumatism? The warm dry climate of Aswan and Helwan would certainly help them get better.

Our tourist today wants efficient and friendly service. He would probably prefer to try our samples of our local food rather than to eat the international meals, which are served, in some places. It must also be remembered that most tourists nowadays are seldom rich. Many of them are students or hardworking employees. So what is needed is not expensive hotels but clean comfortable places to sleep and eat in at reasonable prices. This, too, would encourage Egyptians to travel more and more around their lovely country.

She looked at the pieces and said, "What shall we do with them, Mother?" "You mustn`t spend them foolishly." said their mother. The twins ran into the street. They wondered what they should buy. Should they buy candy? They hardly knew how it tasted. Should they buy a toy? If they had been the only children in the family, things might have been different. But there were three boys older than them and two little younger sisters. They hadn`t gone far when they met a larger boy who was blowing a flute. "I wish I had that flute," John said. The big boy looked at them and blew it again. Oh, what a pretty sound it made!" Sophia showed the money to the boy. "You may have them if you will give us the flute." "All of them?" The boy asked. She looked at her brother then nodded. "Well, it's a deal," said the boy, and he gave the flute to the boy and took the pennies. John was happy. They ran home quickly.

"You've paid a dear price for this thing. You might have bought half a dozen of such flutes with the money" said his mother. The twins saw what a mistake they had made. The flute did not please John anymore. He threw it upon the floor and began to cry. "Never mind", said the mother very kindly. "You are only very little, and you will learn a great deal as you grow bigger.
