Read the following passage, then answer the questions:

When I started my small business, I faced many challenges. At first, I thought running a business would be easy. I had an idea for a product that I believed people would like. But soon, I realized that it was not simple at all. The first challenge was money. I did not have enough money to buy materials and pay for marketing. I had to find ways to save money and use it wisely. I worked part-time jobs while developing my business. It was tiring, but I learned the value of hard work.

Another challenge was competition. Many companies sold similar products. I had to make my product different and better. I spent hours thinking about ideas and asking friends for advice. Slowly, I found a way to improve my product and attract customers.

The biggest challenge was self-confidence. Sometimes, I doubted myself and thought I might fail. But I did not give up. I read books, watched videos, and listened to successful entrepreneurs. This helped me stay positive and focused.

Over time, my business started to grow. I learned that challenges are not problems; they are opportunities to learn. Facing difficulties made me stronger, smarter, and more creative. Today, I am proud of what I have achieved. This challenge changed my life because it taught me patience, determination, and courage.

Read the following passage, then answer the questions:

Trade has always played an important role in Egypt's history and economy. Since ancient times, Egypt has been known as a center of trade between Africa, Asia, and Europe. The Nile River made it easier to transport goods from one place to another, allowing Egyptians to exchange products with nearby regions. Ancient Egyptians traded gold, papyrus, linen, and grain for cedar wood, ivory, spices, and precious stones from other lands. These exchanges helped Egypt become one of the most powerful civilizations in the ancient world.

In modern times, trade continues to be a major part of Egypt's economy. The country exports many products such as cotton, textiles, fertilizers, and petroleum. It also imports machinery, food products, and vehicles from other countries. The Suez Canal, one of the most important waterways in the world, connects the Mediterranean Sea with the Red Sea. It allows ships to travel between Europe and Asia without going around Africa, making Egypt a global trade hub.

The government works to improve trade relations with other countries by joining international organizations and building new ports. Tourism also supports Egypt's trade by bringing foreign money into the country. Today, Egypt's strong trade links help create jobs, attract investment, and support development. Just like in ancient times, trade remains a vital part of Egypt's success and connection with the rest of the world.

Choose the correct answer from a, b, c, or d:

Read the following passage, then answer the questions:

Lubna is a sixteen-year-old student who loves technology and cares deeply about the environment. One day, while walking to school, she noticed how much plastic waste was lying on the streets and in the river. This made her think about how she could use her computer skills to make a difference. After months of learning and planning, Lubna decided to create an app that could help people protect the environment.

Her app, called GreenSteps, encourages users to take small actions every day to reduce pollution. For example, it reminds people to recycle, use reusable bags, and turn off the lights when they leave a room. The app also rewards users with points for completing eco-friendly tasks, which makes helping the planet fun and motivating.

Lubna had some challenges while developing the app. She had never designed software before, so she spent a lot of time watching tutorials and asking teachers for advice. After she had finished her first version, she tested it with her friends, who loved it and suggested more ideas.

Today, GreenSteps has thousands of users across Egypt and other countries. Lubna feels proud that her idea is inspiring others to care for the planet. She believes that small changes can lead to a big difference when everyone works together. Her story shows that even young people can use creativity and technology to make the world a better place.

Choose the correct answer from a, b, c, or d:

- a) To teach people how to use computers.
b) To remind people to complete eco-friendly actions.
c) To help students with their homework.
d) To design games for teenagers.

- 17 What kind of tasks does the app encourage users to do?
- Play online games.
  - Turn off their phones.
  - Recycle and save energy.
  - Study more often.
- 18 What can we tell about Lubna from the passage?
- She is lazy, but talented.
  - She only wanted to win a competition.

Read the following passage, then answer the questions:

Technology is now the backbone of almost every successful new business. For young people thinking about entrepreneurship, understanding technology isn't just helpful—it's essential. It has lowered the barriers to entry, meaning you don't need a huge office or a lot of money to start.

If someone likes baking, they might have opened a small local shop five years ago. Today, they can create an attractive business without leaving their kitchen. They use a cell phone to take high-quality photos of their cakes, set up a website in an afternoon, and use social media marketing to reach thousands of customers.

This entire operation is run on technology.

Technology also helps businesses stay organized. Furthermore, technology connects entrepreneurs directly to their customers. Through instant messaging and customer relationship management (CRM) software, they can get immediate feedback on a new product or service. This helps the business quickly change and improve what they offer.

Whether you're developing a new app or selling handmade crafts, technology provides the tools, the market, and the operational support you need to turn a good idea into a thriving business. Understanding these tools now is the first step toward becoming tomorrow's successful entrepreneur.

Read the following passage, then answer the questions:

What does it mean to be lucky? It commonly means someone who gets something valuable without really trying, someone who is in the right place at the right time. The person who buys a winning lottery ticket or who discovers a lost painting by a famous painter – these are lucky people.

Yet, luck does not guarantee happiness. Accepting ourselves exactly as we are at this present moment provides the courage to move forwards. Believing that all our choices in the past were the best we could have made frees us from regret. It also reinforces our belief that we are as good as we can be now.

We commonly speak of good luck and bad luck, and talk of people being lucky or unlucky, and of things happening by pure chance. Yet, science tells us there is no such thing like chance or luck. It's not luck, but labor that makes men. Luck is ever waiting for something to turn up.

Labor with keen eyes and strong will always turn up something. Man's success in life will be proportionate to his efforts, to his industry and to his attention to small things.

The best preparation for the future is self-acceptance in the present. Self-acceptance and trust in people are the foundations of confidence and courage. Added to action, they lead to more opportunities for unexpected events – which people call luck – that can enrich our lives.

Choose the correct answer from a, b, c, or d:

- 14 According to the passage, trust in people .....
- a) leads to unexpected events                      b) reminds us of the past

- 16 The underlined pronoun "they" refers to .....
- a) self-acceptance and trust                      b) our choices in the past
c) the right place at the right time                      d) unexpected events
- 17 The antonym of the word "forwards" is ".....".
- a) advancing    b) heading
c) backwards    d) onwards

- 18 The best title to the passage is “ .....”.
- a) Luck comes to those who work
  - b) Working hard doesn't bring luck
  - c) Waiting for luck brings happiness
  - d) Luck comes to those who wait for it
- 19 Self-acceptance and trust lead to .....
