Read the following passage, then answer the questions:

Bullying can take a variety of forms, from the verbal-being called hurtful names - to the physical being kicked - as well as indirect forms, such as being excluded from social groups. A survey I conducted with Irene Whitney found that in British primary schools up to a quarter of pupils reported experience of bullying, which is about one in ten cases was persistent. There was less bullying in secondary schools, with about one in twenty-five suffering persistent bullying, but these cases may be particularly rebellious.

Bullying is clearly unpleasant and can make the child experiencing it feel unworthy and depressed. In extreme cases, it can even lead to suicide, though this is thankfully rare. Victimized pupils are more likely to experience difficulties with interpersonal relationships as adults, while children who persistently bully are more likely to grow up to be physically violent and convicted of anti-social offences. Until recently, not much was known about the topic, and little help was available to teachers to deal with bullying.

Perhaps, as a result, schools would often deny the problem. "There is no bullying at this school" has been a common refrain, almost certainly all true. Fortunately, more schools are now saying: There is not much bullying here, but when it occurs we have a clear for dealing with it.

Every year about two million people visit Mount Rushmore, where the faces of four U.S. presidents were carved in granite by sculptor Gutzon Borglum and his son, the late Lincoln Borglum. The creation of Rushmore Monument took 14 years- from 1927 to 1941- and nearly a million dollars. These were times when money was difficult to come by and many people were jobless. To move more than 40,000 tons of rock, Borglum hired laid-off workers from the closed-down mines in the Black Hills area. He taught these men to dynamite, drill, carve and finish the granite. They were hanging in midair in specially devised chairs, which had many safety features. Borglum was proud of the fact that no workers were killed or severely injured during the years of blasting and carving.

During the carving, many changes in the original design had to be made to keep the carved heads free of large fissures that were uncovered. Borglum concocted a mixture of granite dust, white lead and linseed oil to fill them. Every winter, water from melting snow gets into the fissures and expands as it freezes, making the fissures bigger. Consequently, every autumn maintenance work is done to refill the cracks. The repairers fix the monument with the same mixture that Borglum used to preserve this national monument for future generations.

(2) Read the following passage, then choose the correct answer:

Technology has changed people and their lives. No period in history has had as many significant changes as the past century. Improvements of all kinds such as those in communication and transportation have seriously changed people's lives- not positively. Some people don't like the results of technology. They often resist the new. They might prefer to take trains instead of planes and receive letters instead of phone calls or e-mails. Computers are an obvious part of technology that reach into most people's lives. A computer can easily perform simple and complex calculations. It can record all kinds of information. It can sort material either alphabetically or in number sequence. It can classify, report and edit information that is put in. The only requirement is that the computer must be correctly programmed to perform these functions or jobs. A computer programmer uses special languages to control and instruct the different parts of the computer.

Computers have so many everyday uses that the business world would stop without them. They can, for example, reserve aeroplane tickets, keep bank accounts and record grocery items. All of these jobs can be done in a fraction of the time that a person would need. The investment of time and patience that a person makes in learning how to use a computer pays off many times. 3- Read the following passage, then answer the questions: ( 10 M )

It is most necessary for everyone to cut down on his food expenses. Since the early 1970s the cost of the food has gone up faster than the cost of all commodities and services. The increase has mounted to more than 300%.

For all Egyptian families, food is the biggest item in their monthly household. In fact, "it " swallows more than half the budget of millions of low-income families. People suffer from the high prices of food a lot. How will such a state of affairs end? Is it the fate of low-income families to face starvation? Isn't there any solution?

To be sure, there is. You can reduce your food expenses at least 20% by observing the following pieces of advice. Note the food items you need when your supplies run low. Group the same kind of food together and write a list of your needs. Use your list as you shop and don't buy any items which are not included on the list. Food is sold nowadays in different forms: fresh, canned and frozen. Choose the cheapest and healthiest ones. You can buy fresh vegetables instead of frozen ones because they are cheaper and healthier.

Chickens are cheaper than red meat. You can have cheese, beans and eggs instead of meat.

One last bit of advice, "Don't go shopping on an empty stomach". Shopping when you are hungry tempt you to buy things you don't really need.

Doctors, engineers and businessmen cannot work without private cars. Moreover, the rapid growth of population in capitals and main cities has actually made the joy of possessing a car much less. Besides the problems of keeping a car in good condition and the lack of garages, there is the big problem of crowded streets.

3- Read the following passage, then choose the correct answer from a, b, c or d :

It is a disgusting fact that many different wild animals throughout the world are in danger. The reasons for this are many and varied, but we must blame pollution, pesticides the disturbance of animals and their natural environment and man's greed.

Industry has grown enormously, and it has become common practice for factories to dispose waste materials in streams and rivers, causing great loss of river life. Modern agricultural methods include using pesticides which control insects classified as pests, but which also destroy many that are not. An increase in population had meant more building which results in the destruction of much of the countryside that provides shelter for wild animals. To satisfy man's selfish desires, the polar bear in North America is under threat, hunted by sportsmen.

Whales are killed for the oil and the food they yield. There are only a few of the species under threat. But the problem is receiving world-wide recognition, and some actions are being taken. For example, pollution in the River Thames has been greatly reduced, trading in some furs had been forbidden, and the organisations like "Friends of the Earth" do valuable work in this field. We should take serious steps to conserve our environment and protect it from destruction.

Read the following passage, then answer the questions:

Gold is a rare metal with a lovely bright color. It is easy to be shaped, and it is not affected by air or water. As gold is so soft, it can be beaten into very thin sheets, and it can be also drawn out into very thin wires. Gold is, therefore, an excellent material for making beautiful objects such as jewelry. Moreover, the ancient Egyptians prized gold so much that they believed that gold belonged only to their kings, so they buried many precious gold objects in their pharaohs' tombs, and we can see many of them in the museums today.

The Egyptians were very clever goldsmiths as they could beat gold into sheets. The gold which is used to make jewelry is usually mixed with other metals. This not only makes the gold jewelry cheaper, but also harder. Because it was scarce and therefore valuable, gold was formerly used as money. Many countries keep bars of gold in banks.

They can change this gold into money by selling it to other countries. About two thirds of all the gold in the world is kept in this way. Gold is usually buried deep underground. It can be also found in rivers and seas, but it would cost far more money to be extracted than the gold is worth.

□ Read the following passage, then answer the questions: (10m)

The word "clown" is sometimes used to label a person as foolish. But being called a clown is not always an insult. The art of clowning is an old, honorable tradition. It includes not just modern-day circus clowns but court jesters, who performed for kings or emperors, and theatrical clowns, who were onstage as early as 500 years ago.

Throughout history, most cultures have had clowns. These clowns do more than just make people laugh. They are often shown as powerless fools, but sometimes clowns actually enjoy great freedom of speech. Using humor, clowns are able to question their leaders in a way ordinary people might not.

For example, in ancient China, the Emperor Shih Huang-Ti ordered the Great Wall of China to be built. During its construction, thousands of workers died due to poor working conditions. The Emperor planned to have the Great Wall painted, which would have resulted in even more lives lost. The Emperor's jester, Yu Sze, was the only person who dared to criticize this plan. He did so jokingly, but his jokes persuaded the Emperor not to paint the Great Wall. For this Yu Sze is now celebrated as a national hero in China. Clowns remind us that humor can be one of the most effective ways to influence people. The clowns of our culture—those who make us laugh and look at life in new ways—may not represent foolishness at all, but wisdom in disguise.

17. Based on its use in paragraph 1, it can be understood that honorable belongs to which of the following word groups?

- ٣-الكثير من الناس لديهم آراء مختلفة حقًا حول التجارب على الحيوانات. يعتقد البعض أنها قاسية ، بينما يقول البعض الآخر أنه من الضروري تطوير أدوية للبشر.

Read the following passage, then answer the questions:

Have you ever been to a forest? Have you ever watched a documentary about wild life? Forests of different kinds are rich in wildlife. There, you can see thousands of species of plants and animals. These plants and animals form one of the most complicated circles of life. Every single species plays a part in natural balance.

There are similarities between animals living in wide-open spaces. The lion is an animal that lives in open area. The lion is the largest member in the family of cats. It lives in Africa. When it is angry or irritated by flies, the lion whips its tail around. The favourite food of the lion is raw meat. The lion gets its food from the animals it kills every day. It hunts at night but during the day, it lies in the shade of a tree. The lion kills only for food. The male always eats first. When it finishes, the rest of the family, the lioness and cubs, have their turn.

The zebra also lives in wide-pen spaces. Its enemy is the lions because lions like zebra meat. Both zebra and lions like to live in open areas where they can run and play. Water is very important for the zebra. Almost every day it goes to waterhole where, its enemy, the lion, is sitting there waiting for it.
